In 2019 I started to paint a neutral "shadow man " in various situations as a kind of training of my mind and skills, not realizing I actually was painting myself and what was happening to me in my life. The book you now holding in your hands shows a lot of emotions I experienced lately and I was in doubt to publish them or not. Good times and bad times follow another ,but I think emotions are for sharing. So here it is: Shadows of Schreuder.
